He was a celebrated knight—one of the 'Enfants de Lindsay' commemorated by Froissart, and knighted the son of St. Bridget of Sweden at the Holy Sepulchre. By his wife, Christiana, dau. of Sir William Mure, of Abercorn, with whom he obtained that barony, he left two sons, SIR WILLIAM, and Andrew, of Garmylton, ancestor of Sir David Lindsay of the Mount, the poet, reformer, and Lyon King-at-Arms, temp. JAMES V.

Lineage.

The family of Lingen was at a very early period seated at a small village of that name, about two miles from Wigmore, in Herefordshire, the seat of the Mortimers, whose later history identifies them with the house of York.

The Rev. R. W. Eyton, in his Antiquities of Shropshire (vol. v., pp. 73-8; xi., pp. 332-4) gives numerous instances proving the connexion of the family of Lingen with the place so named and its neighbourhood throughout the 12th, 13th, and 14th centuries.

RALPH DE LINGEN, to whom the foundation of Lymbroks Nunnery, in Herefordshire, dissolved in 1539, is attributed, was s. by a son (soon after 1189), grandson, and great-grandson, all named John de Lingen. The second John de Lingen had a grant of Free Warren 1256; the third was knighted at a great solemnity in 1305 before accompanying King EDWARD I. on his last expedition to Scotland. His son,

SIR RALPH DE LINGEN sat as member for the co. of Hereford, anno 47 EDWARD III. (1373), and 5 RICHARD II. (1381). (See Return of Members of Parliament, House of Commons, Paper 69, Session 1878.) SIR RALPH LINGEN, Knt. of Sutton and Lingen, m. Jane, and had (with two daus.) Isolda, m. Brian Harley, of dau. of John Russell, and had issue,

SIR JOHN LINGEN, Knt., of Sutton and Lingen, sheriff of co. Hereford in 1469, 1486, and 1496; m. Elizabeth, 3rd dau. and co-heir of Sir John Burgh (by Jane his wife, dau. and co-heiress of Sir William Clopton, of Clopton, co. Warwick, and Radbrook, co. Gloucester). He d. 1506, and his wife 1522; they are buried at Aymestry. His son and heir was

Sir John Lingen, Knt. of Sutton and Lingen, also jure uxoris of Stock-Edith, sheriff co. Hereford 1506 and 1517; m. 1512, Eleanor, dau. and heir of Thomas Milwater, of Stoke-Edith. Stoke-Edith had belonged to the family of Walwyn of Hellens, Longworth, &c., at least, up to 1402. It is not known how Thomas Milwater obtained Stoke-Edith, unless through John Milwater, "homo de guerrâ Franciæ," mentioned in the accounts of the battle of Mortimer's Cross, which is close by (see Robinson's Mansions and Manors of Herefordshire, p. 257). Sir John Lingen d. 1530, leaving (with a dau., m. John Wigmore, Esq. of Lucton) a son and successor,

John Lingen, Esq. of Stoke-Edith, Sheriff co. Hereford, 1544; m. 1530, Margaret, dau. of Sir Thomas Englefield, Bart. of Englefield, Berks, Speaker of the House of Commons; he d. at Stoke-Edith, 11 Feb. 1546, and was s. by his eldest son,

John Lingen, Esq. of Stoke-Edith and Sutton, M.P. co. Hereford, in the 1st year of Queen Mary, 1554 (see same Return); he m. Isabel, dau. of John Breynton, Esq. of Stretton-Sugwas, and d. 3 May, 1554; he was buried at St. Dunstan's-in-the-West, London, leaving an only dau.,

Jane, m. William Shelley, Esq. of Michelgrove, Sussex. In the stormy period of the Reformation, her husband was attainted 1583, and she was herself for some time confined in Worcester Gaol, "for that a priest was found in her house." She founded Lingen's Almshouse, outside the Eigne gate of the city of Hereford, and Shelley's School, in the parish of Marden. The deed of the latter endowment, dated 7 Feb. 1609, recites "that she had a great estate in land by descent from her father and other ancestors, and a small revenue by her own purchase" (Charity Commissioners' Reports, vol. xxvi., pp. 52 and 144). She d. s. p. 1610, and was s. by her first cousin, Edward Lingen, Esq. of Sutton, sheriff of co. Hereford, son of William, one of her father's brothers, who m. Cecil, dau. of Thomas Anthony Ingram, co. Warwick. i. Henry (Sir), one of the most stubborn supporters of the Royal cause in his own county. In 1643 he received the king's commission to raise a regiment of 1,000 men. After constant service as an active partisan, he defended Goodrich Castle against Colonel Birch for two months, in 1646, which was one of the latest fortresses held for the king. In 1648 he headed one of the latest risings; but was wounded and made prisoner (Gardiner's Great Civil War, vol. iii., p. 449). For this attempt he was tried by Court Martial (Gardiner's Commonwealth, vol. i., p. 46), and ordered by the House of Commons to be banished. But this order was discharged (Commons Journals, 10 Nov., 13 Dec. 1648), and beyond the heavy fine, £6,342, imposed upon him as composition for his estates, he seems to have suffered nothing further. He sat for the city of Hereford in the first parliament of Charles II., and d. 1662. He m. Alice, dau. of Sir Walter Pye, of the Mynde. His sons d. s. p. He left seven daus., among whom his estates, greatly reduced, were divided, and passed into other families. His character, and the vicissitudes of his career are described at length in Webb's History of the Civil War in Herefordshire, and exhibit a lively picture of the times.

ii. Roger, of Radbrook, co. Gloucester, who, after the death s. p. of Sir Henry's sons, became the representative of the male line of the family; he is ancestor of the present John Lingen-Burton, Esq. of Longner Hall, co. Salop (see Burke's Landed Gentry).

iii. Thomas.

The 3rd son,

Thomas Lingen, Esq. of Leighton Court, bapt. 13 Sept. 1618; m. Katherine, dau. of Mathew Meysey, Esq. of Shakenhurst, co. Worcester, and widow of John Fox, Esq. of Leighton Court, and d. 1696 (see Nash's Worcestershire Meysey Pedigree), leaving an only son to survive, viz.,

Henry Lingen, Esq. of Worcester, b. 1695; m. Elizabeth Weston and had an only son,

Rev. Ralph Lingen, M.A., Fellow of Wadham College, Oxford, and rector of Castle Frome, co. Hereford, and of Rock, co. Worcester, b. 1730; m. Elizabeth, dau. of Robert Gomery, Esq. of Rock, and had issue,

1 Henry (Rev.), of Abberley, co. Worcester, M.A., Fellow of Wadham College, Oxford, b. 1765, m. Ann, dau. of William Wharton, Esq. of Abberley, and had five sons and two daus., all of whom d. s. p., except Francis, The Bower, Rock, and Thomas, of Lincome, near St port, both of whom m. and left issue.

Lineage.

This noble family stands in the first rank of ancient Cym houses, and is almost without a parallel for prolonged und turbed possession of the original seat and estate. The ma and mansion of Trawscoed came into the Vaughan family the marriage of Adda Vychan with Tudo, dau. and heir Ievan Gôch, of Trawscoed, A.D. 1200, and have never si been alienated, nor, it is believed, ceased to be occupied the possessors. The pedigree is deduced by well-ascertai steps of descent from Collwyn ap Tangno, founder of the fi noble tribe of North Wales, Lord of Eifionydd, Ardudwy, a part of Lleyn, and said to have had his residence at one ti in a stronghold (part of which still remains) on the site Harlech Castle. This is one of the very few native families which has been dignified by the peerage of Ireland. The O'Callaghans were formerly princes of the province of Munster; and were seated at the castle of Drumaneen. Their chief, CORNELIUS O'CALLAGHAN, enjoyed very extensive territorial possessions in 1594, according to an inquisition taken by Sir Thomas Norris, vice-president of Munster, in the October of that year. From a junior branch of this great Milesian house descended

SIR SIMON LOCARD, circa 1315-30. He has been said to have accompanied Sir James Douglas on his expedition with the heart of Bruce, and brought home the Scottish forces with the heart of his royal master. The family possess a famous relic of antiquity called The Lee Penny, upon which is founded Sir Walter Scott's romance of The Talisman. Tradition has it that Simon Locard, during his stay in the Holy Land, took prisoner a Saracen chief, whose wife came to ransom him, and on the counting out of the money or jewels, this (which is a stone or composition of a dark red colour and triangular shape, set on a silver coin) fell; she hastily snatched it up, which Simon observing, insisted upon having it, and procured it before giving up his prisoner. More of this singular relic, and its alleged properties and virtues, may be found in Sir Walter Scott's preface to The Talisman.

Passing to the 16th century,

SIR JAMES LOCKHART, knighted by JAMES VI. He was m. three times. Lineage.

The name of Kerr is found in Scotland at the end of the 12th century. The prominent border families of Cessford and Fernihirst, of the latter of which the Marquess of Lothian is representative, can be traced to a common ancestry.

JOHN KERR, of the Forest of Selkirk, had in 1357, a charter of part of Auldtounburn, and in 1358, another to himself and Mariot, his wife, of another part of the same lands, and of Mowe. He was father of

HENRY KERR, Sheriff of Roxburgh in 1359, who seems to have m. an heiress of the family of St. Michael or Michelson. His son,

Robert Kerr, of Auldtounburn, who had a charter of Smelholme, in 1404, from Archibald, 4th Earl of Douglas had two sons, Richard, who d. s. p. before 1428, and Andrew. The younger son,

Andrew Kerr, of Auldtounburn, had various charters from the Earls of Douglas, 1430-48, of lands in Roxburghshire, including one of Cessford, afterwards the title of the family. Two of his younger sons, James, of Linton, and Thomas, of Gateshaw, were progenitors of separate branches of the Kerr family. He was s. in 1449 or 1450 by his eldest son,

Andrew Kerr, of Auldtounburn, in whose time the fall of the Douglases, by which the Kerrs became crown vassals, greatly increased their influence. In 1451 he had a charter of the King's lands of the barony of Old Roxburgh. In 1457 he is warden of the Marches, and designed "of Cessford." He m. 1st, a dau. of Douglas, of Cavers; 2ndly, Margaret, dau. of Tweedie, of Drummelzier, and had issue by the first marriage,

i. Andrew, who in 1466 had a remission for his part in the carrying off James III. from Linlithgow; m. Margaret, dau. of Patrick Hepburn, of Hailes, widow of Patrick, Lord Halyburton, of Dirleton, and d. in or before 1474, leaving a dau. Margaret, who m. John Home, of Ersilton, and is ancestress of the Earl of Home.

ii. Walter, of Cessford (styled "of Caverton" in his father's life), to whom his niece, Margaret, resigned her right in Cessford. He d. 1501, having m. 1st, Isabel, dau. of John, Lord Hay, of Yester; 2ndly, Agnes, dau. of William, Lord Crichton, chancellor, and widow of Alexander, Lord Glammis. His eldest son, Sir Robert, of Caverton, who d. v. p. 1500, had by Christian, his wife, dau. of James Rutherford, of that ilk, two sons. Sir Andrew, of Cessford, and George, of Faudonside. Sir Andrew, of Cessford, who s. his grandfather 1501, was warden of the Middle March, m. Agnes, dau. of Patrick Crichton, of Cranstonriddell, and widow of George, son and heir of Sir Oliver Sinclair, of Roslin; and was killed at Melrose in 1526. He had two sons,

1 Walter, ancestor of the Dukes of Roxburghe (see that title).

2 Mark, abbot of Newbottle, 1556; having adopted the reformed faith, held the abbey as commendator, was an extraordinary lord of session, and one of the privy council. He d. 1581, having m. Helen, dau. of George, Earl of Rothes, and widow of Gilbert Seton, of Parbroath, and had issue,

Mark, of whom as 1st Earl of Lothian.
Andrew, of Fenton, d. without male issue.

She m., 1702, Alexander Mackenzie, of Prestonhall, who adopted the name and designation of Fraser, of Fraserdale. She, in 1702, obtained a decree in absence in her favour, in the Court of Session, in a declarator of her right to the peerage, against her cousin, Simon Fraser, the heir male. She also continued to possess the estates till 1715, when her husband, engaging in the insurrection of that year, was attainted, and his life-rent interest in the estate forfeited. In 1730 she was deprived of her status as Baroness Lovat, by a decree of reduction in the Court of Session at the instance of the heir male. Her right to the reversion of the estates was not judicially tried, but compromised by her for a money payment. They had a son, Hugh, who d. 9 Nov. 1770, and a dau., Amelia, d. 22 Aug. 1763.

SIMON, 10th Lord Lovat (son of Thomas Fraser, of Beaufort, 3rd son of Hugh, 7th lord), had a remarkable career. Soon after the death of Hugh, 9th lord, he induced his eldest dau. to elope with him, but she returned to her mother. He then seized her estates, and for this and other acts of violence he was tried in absence in 1698, and sentence of death and attainder pronounced against him. He next forcibly possessed himself of the person of the widow of the 9th Lord, and compelled her to marry him, a crime for which he was tried and outlawed in 1701. In 1715 he took part with the Government, obtained a remission under the Great Seal, and a gift of Fraser of Fraserdale's forfeited liferent of the Lovat estates. He endeavoured to assert his right to the dignity of Lord Lovat at elections of representative peers in 1721, 1722, and 1727, when his vote was objected to. In 1729 he brought a reduction before the Court of Session of the decree of 1702, giving the heir female the title, and in virtue of a decree in his favour in 1730, became Lord Lovat. Taking part in the rebellion of 1745, he was impeached by the House of Lords, and executed on Tower Hill, 9 April, 1747. He m. 1st, Margaret, dau. of Ludovic Grant, of Grant, and had,

SOMERLED, a Celtic chief by whose efforts the Norwegian had been driven from the mainland of Scotland, established himself in the 12th century as Lord of Ergadia, or Argyle i.e., the whole district between the Clyde and Lochbroom and after wresting also a large portion of his insular dominions from the King of Man, styled himself King o the Isles. He d. or was assassinated in 1164, leaving by his wife, Effrica, dau. of Olave, King of Man, three sons among whom his possessions were parted; Dugald, ancesto of the Macdougals of Lorn; Reginald; and Angus.

II. Hilda-Margaret, b. 23 Dec. 1868; m. 14 Nov. 1892, Henry Cecil Phillips, Esq. of Ballyhooly House, co. Cork.

Lineage.

The genealogy contained in the manuscript discovered by Skene in the collection of the Faculty of Advocates confirms the ancient origin of this family, and puts it beyond doubt that they were one of the three clans descended from the old Maormors of Moray, sovereigns of the Pictish race, which from the earliest time occupied the district of Moray.

In the 12th century a large grant of lands in Strath Tay was made to the MACNAGHTENS, who were styled Thanes of Loch Tay. In 1510, SIR ALEXANDER MACNAGHTANE followed JAMES IV. to the fatal field of Flodden. He was there slain with his sovereign and the flower of the Scottish nobility. The son and heir of this Sir Alexander married Anne, daughter of Murdoch Maclean, Laird of Lough Buy, in Mull, by his wife, the sister of Randal MacSorley, 1st Earl of Antrim, and daughter of Sorley Buy who was in the habit of making predatory incursions into the north of Ireland. By her he had three sons. The eldest died without issue. From the second, Malcolm, called Gleashian, proceeded the Scottish line, but this, from devoted attachment to the Stuarts fell into decay, and became ultimately lost. Alexander, son of John Mac Naghten of that ilk, was a captain in the guards temp. Queen ANNE, and fell at Vigo, 1702. His brother John, Inspector-General of Customs in Scotland, succeeded to the chieftainship, but d. s. p. The third son, designated "SHANE DHU," or Black John, went to Ireland as secretary to his grand-uncle, Randal MacSorley MacDonnell, 1st Earl of Antrim, and settled in the county of Antrim in 1580. The last place of residence the Macnaughtens had in Scotland was Dundarave, a castle on Loch Fine, in Argyleshire, DANIEL MACNAUGHTON, son and heir of "Shane Dhu," married Catherine, niece of the Primate George Dowdall, and his son, JOHN of BENWARDEN, in the county of Antrim, married Helen, daughter of Francis Stafford, of Portglenone. EDMUND, their son, was born on the 10th of August, 1679, and when about ten years of age was taken by his mother, then a widow, to the city of Londonderry, where he remained with his uncle, the Right Hon. Edward Francis Stafford, during the whole of the memorable siege. In the meantime the Scottish branch of the family adhered zealously to the house of Stuart. On the 10th of July, 1689, John Macnaghtan, with a large body of his clan, joined Graham of Claverhouse, the gallant Dundee, and contributed much to the success gained over William's army at Killicrankie. But victory was as disastrous as defeat to the Macnaghtans. An entire forfeiture of their property in Scotland was the immediate consequence of the part they took. The Irish branch was represented by the above-named EDMUND, who resided at Beardiville, in the county of Antrim. A large deputation from the Macnaughtons of Perthshire and Argyleshire came over from Scotland, soliciting him to assume the chieftainship of the clan. He did not, however, see fit to comply with their request. He married, 1st, Leonora Vesey, of the De Vesci family, by whom he had no issue; 2ndly,

Hanah, daughter of John Johnstone, Esq., by whom he had two sons. EDMUND-ALEXANDER, for many years M.P. for the county of Antrim, and one of the lords of the Treasury. He was born the 2nd of August, 1762. It is believed the clan was without a recognized chief until 1818, when, on the attestation and at the desire of upwards of 400 of the Macnaughtans in Scotland, a patent was issued by Thomas, Earl of Kinnoul, Lord Lyon King of Arms, acknowledging Edmund-Alexander to be chief of the ancient name and clan, and the same was registered accordingly. Robert Malet, son of William Malet, the Norman knight, appears in Domesday Book as the lord of 257 lordships. He endowed a monastery of benedictine monks at Eye, in Suffolk, where he had a castle. He was one of the chief nobles of the realm, and was appointed hereditary grand chamberlain of England, but on the return of Robert Courthose from Palestine, he espoused his cause against Henry I. He was banished, and the majority of his estates were given to Stephen, Count of Blois, afterwards King Stephen. He was killed at the battle of Tinchebraie, 1106. He had one son,

He d. 27 Aug. 1631, and was buried at Scone, where a magnificent monument was erected to his memory. His honours devolved, according to the extended limitation, upon

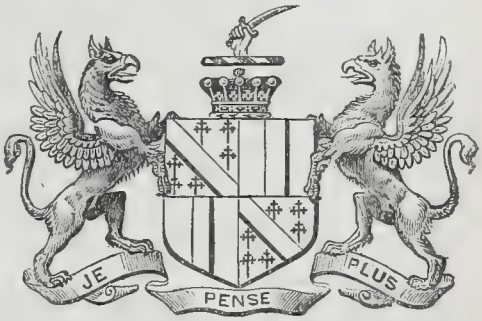
MAR.



MAR, EARL OF (John-Francis-Erskine Goodeve-Erskine), and Lord Garioch, M.A. Cantab and Oxon, one of the representative peers of Scotland, s. his uncle 19 June, 1866, as 26th earl,* b. 29 March, 1836; m. 12 Sept. 1866, Alice-Mary-Sinclair, dau. of the late John Hamilton, Esq. of Hilston Park, co. Monmouth, and has a son, JOHN-FRANCIS-HAMILTON SINCLAIR-CUNLIFFE-BROOKS-FORBES, Lord Garioch, b. 25 Feb. 1868.

Lineage.

The origin of the Earls of Mar is described by Lord Hailes as "lost in its antiquity." According to the most eminent of Scottish Peerage lawyers, Mr. John Riddell, "the Earldom of Mar is the oldest Scottish earldom by descent, as it is in many respects the most remarkable in the empire, for the direct heir-at-law is the representative, through an illustrious ancestry, of personages who were Earls of Mar ab initio. The Earldom of Mar may be justly considered the premier earldom of Scotland." Like the other old Scottish earldoms, that of Mar was descendable to heirs-general.

Donald Mormaer of Mar was killed at the battle of Clontarf, in Ireland, in 1014, and Ruadri, who is mentioned as Mormaer of Mar in the "Book of Deer," appears as "Rothri comes," and one of the "Seven Earls" in the reign of ALEXANDER I. In 1152 or earlier, Morgund was earl of Mar. His line was temporarily superseded by one Gilchrist, who called in question Morgund's legitimacy, was earl, circa 1180-1211, and founded the priory of Monymusk. The plea of illegitimacy seems to have been unfounded, at least by Celtic usage, and the next two earls were Morgund's son Duncan, and Duncan's son William, who was great chamberlain of Scotland 1252-5. Gilchrist's claim, which had passed by female succession to the Lundin or Durward family, was eventually satisfied by a grant of lands between Dee and Don. Earl Donald, son of William, was father of Earl Gratney, and of Isobel, 1st wife of King ROBERT BRUCE.

GRATNEY, 7th† EARL OF MAR, succeeded in 1297, and died before the end of 1305, having m. Christian Bruce, sister of King ROBERT I. By her (who afterwards m. Sir Christopher Seton and Sir Andrew Moray, of Bothwell) he had.

* The finding of the Committee of Privileges in 1875, regarding an Earldom of Mar claimed by Walter Coningsby, Earl of Kellie, having given rise to doubts whether the ancient dignity of Mar had not been by some means "surrendered or merged in the Crown," an Act of Parliament was passed in 1885 to remove these doubts by confirming the old title as fully as if there had been no such surrender.

† The Earls of Mar are here numbered from Ruadri, or Rothri, the first who was designed Earl, it being only from his time that the line of succession is clear.

DONALD, his successor.
Elyne, m. Sir John Menteith, Lord of Arran, by whom she had, besides a son, John Menteith (who d. s. p.), a dau., Christian, who m. 1st, Sir Edward Keith, of Syntoun (who with his brother Robert Keith, mareshal of Scotland, fell at Durham in 1346); 2ndly, Sir Robert Erskine of that ilk, s. p. She had by the first marriage a dau. and heir, Margaret, who m. 1st, Sir David Barclay of Brechin (by whom she had dau. Janet, wife of Walter Stewart, Earl of Athole); 2ndly, Sir Thomas Erskine, her stepfather's son, by whom she had Robert, Lord Erskine and Earl of Mar.

DONALD, 8th EARL OF MAR, a captive in England in his boyhood; restored after Bannockburn, fell at the battle of Dupplin. He m. Isobel-Stewart, and by her (who m. 2ndly, Geoffry Mowbray, and 3rdly, William Careswell, and d. circa 1348) had issue,

THOMAS, his successor.
MARGARET, COUNTESS OF MAR.

THOMAS, 9th EARL OF MAR, s. 1332, and was great Chamberlain of Scotland under DAVID II. He obtained the lordship (sometimes called earldom) of Garioch in 1355 on the death of his grandmother, Christian Bruce, on whom it had been conferred by King ROBERT I. He m. 1st, Margaret, Countess of Menteith in her own right, and widow of John Moray, of Bothwell (this marriage was dissolved by divorce, and the same lady was afterwards 1st wife of Robert, Duke of Albany, Gov. of Scotland); 2ndly, Margaret Stewart, Countess of Angus. Dying s. p. 1377, Earl Thomas was s. by his sister,

MARGARET, COUNTESS OF MAR, who m. 1st, William, 1st Earl of Douglas, who in her right was Earl of Mar, and d. 1384; 2ndly, Sir John Swinton, of Swinton, and dying circa 1392, left issue by her first husband, James, Earl of Douglas, who m. the Princess Isabel, dau. of ROBERT II., and fell at Otterburn, in 1388, leaving no lawful issue.

ISABEL, who succeeded her mother.

ISABEL, COUNTESS OF MAR, m. 1st, Sir Malcolm Drummond of Stobhall, brother of Queen Annabella; 2ndly, 1404, Alexander Stewart, natural son of Alexander, Earl of Buchan (brother of ROBERT III.), who had previously taken violent possession of the widowed countess and her castle of Kildrummy. In breach of an engagement entered into in 1395, with the heir presumptive of the Earldom of Mar (the wife of Sir Thomas Erskine), ROBERT III. confirmed a charter, granted by Countess Isabel to her second husband on 9 Dec. 1404, by which he acquired a a liferent of the earldom. The countess d. s. p. in 1409, and her surviving husband obtained, on his resignation, a charter of the earldom from JAMES I. in 1426 for himself and his natural son, Thomas, a charter afterwards accounted null, inasmuch as the resigner was but a liferenter. Alexander Stewart, who was designed Earl of Mar, and was distinguished in history as the hero of the battle of Harlaw, fought in 1411, d. in 1435, his natural son, Sir Thomas Stewart, having predeceased him, also s. p.; and JAMES I., in virtue of a remainder to the crown in the charter of 1426, took possession of the lands of the earldom.

ROBERT, LORD ERSKINE (descended as above from Elyne of Mar), made a lord of parliament before 24 May, 1429, was retoured heir of the Countess Isabel* in 1438, on the death of Alexander Stewart, and designed himself Earl of Mar, and his possession was only indirectly interfered with by the crown. He d. 1452, leaving by his wife, a dau. of David, 3rd Earl of Crawford, a son,

THOMAS, 2ND LORD ERSKINE, and de jure 13th Earl of Mar. In 1457 his father's service was reduced, at the instance of JAMES II., before an Assize of Error, when the earldom was found to have devolved on the crown, ratione bastardiæ, on the decease of Alexander Stewart. The Earldom of Mar was afterwards bestowed, in 1459, on Prince John, son of JAMES II., in 1482, on Prince Alexander, son of the same king, in 1486, on Prince John, son of JAMES III., and in 1562, on Queen MARY's natural brother, James Stewart, all which grants were eventually declared to have been inept. By his wife, Elizabeth Douglas, dau. of James, 3rd Earl of Morton, Thomas, Lord Erskine, had (with a dau. Isabel, m. to Patrick, Lord Graham of Kilpont) a son,

ALEXANDER, LORD ERSKINE, and de jure 14th Earl of Mar, father of

ROBERT, LORD ERSKINE, and de jure 15th Earl of Mar, who fell at Flodden, 1513, and was father of

JOHN, LORD ERSKINE, and de jure 16th Earl of Mar, who d. 1552. He m. Margaret, dau. of Archibald, 2nd Earl of Argyll, and had (with other issue, as to whom see next article),

* There were two retours, each to half of the earldom, and apparently two different halves. Robert, Lord Lyle, claimed to be junior co-heir in the lands on grounds not now known, and which Lord Erskine seems to have disputed; but the existence of this claim appears to account for Erskine sometimes claiming half the lands, and sometimes the whole.

JOHN, LORD ERSKINE, who, after an investigation int rights, was restored by Queen MARY, by a charter dat June, 1565, to the Earldom of Mar, of which his ancesto declared to have been unjustly dispossessed, and was ther recognized as Earl of Mar. He was Regent of Scotland ir and 1572, in which latter year he died. He m. Anna dau. of Sir William Murray, of Tullibardine, and had a John, who succeeded him in the earldom.

JOHN, 18th EARL OF MAR, was Lord Treasurer of Scotland 1615 to 1630. In the Decreet of Ranking of 1606, the Earl o was assigned a position conformable to writs of 1395 and the oldest evidents produced by him, but protests have nually been made by his successors, down to a very recent for precedence before all other earls, to which, if antiqu creation were alone to be considered, they were undoub entitled. An Act of Parliament of 1587 in favo this earl, and a decree of the Court of Sessio an action by him against Lord Elphinstone for recovery of Kildrummy, contain the most explicit recog of his succession as heir-general to the Countess Isabel of the status of his ancestor, the 1st Lord Erskine, as E Mar. The Treasurer Earl m. 1st, Anne, dau. of David, 2nd Drummond, by whom he had JOHN, his successor; 2 Mary Stewart, dau. of Esmé, Duke of Lennox, by who had, James, Earl of Buchan in his wife's right; Henry, on the barony of Cardross was settled; Sir Charles Erskin Alva; and other issue (see BUCHAN, E., and ROSSLYN, He d. 1634.

3 Elizabeth-Godfrey, m. to Edmund Dunch, Esq. of Wittenham, in Berkshire, master of the Household to Queen ANNE.

The eldest surviving son.

JOHN CHURCHILL, the most celebrated General of the period in which he lived, was b. at Ash, his grandfather, Sir John Drake's seat, in Devonshire, 24 May, 1650, and received his early education in the Dublin Corporation City School, under Dr. William Hill. In his youth he was page-of-honour to James, Duke of York, through whose favour he obtained an ensigncy in the guards. In 1671, he served at Tangier against the Moors; and being in the army sent the following year under the Duke of Monmouth, to the assistance of LOUIS XIV., against the Dutch, signalized himself at the siege of Maestricht. In 1679, he attended the Duke of York into Flanders, and in 1680 into Scotland. He was also with the duke in 1682, when the "Gloucester" frigate, in her voyage to Scotland, struck on the Lemon and Oar sand, and was one of those for whose preservation his royal highness was particularly solicitous. In the December following, by the influence of the Duke, he was created Lord Churchill, of Eyemouth, co. Berwick, in the peerage of Scotland; and the next year, being then a general officer, he got the command of the 1st regiment of dragoons, at that time newly raised. The Duke of York ascending the throne, as JAMES II., Lord Churchill was accredited ambassador to the court of France, and created a peer of England, 14 May, 1685, as Baron Churchill, of Sandridge, co. Hertford. Notwithstanding, however, these sterling marks of royal favour, Lord Churchill, who had assisted in defeating the Duke of Monmouth at Sedgemoor, was amongst the first to attach himself to the fortunes of the Prince of Orange, and to vote in the Convention Parliament for the vacancy of the throne, and for filling it with the Prince and Princess of Orange. For these services he was sworn of the privy council to the new sovereign, and created, 9 April, 1689, Earl of Marlborough; in which year he was sent to command the English forces in the Netherlands, under Prince Waldeck, general of the Dutch troops. He subsequently fell under the displeasure of King WILLIAM, and was confined for a short time in the Tower. Upon the accession of Queen ANNE, her majesty appointed the Earl of Marlborough captain-general of all her forces in England, and of those employed in conjunction with her allies; and then began that military career which is one of the most brilliant in English history. His first great campaign was in 1702, when he accomplished the reduction of Venloo, Stevenswaert, Ruremonde, and Liege, and, in reward, he was made, 14 Dec. 1702, Marquess of Blandford, and DUKE OF MARLBOROUGH. Within two years afterwards, 13 (2nd, O.S.) Aug. 1704, his grace won the great victory of Blenheim, which has immortalized his name, and for which he obtained a grant from the crown, at the desire of parliament, to himself and his heirs, of the royal manor of Woodstock and hundred of Wooton, in Oxfordshire. Here a splendid palace, bearing the proud name of BLENHEIM, was erected, by the Queen's orders, and a monumental pillar raised to hand down to posterity the achievements of the illustrious soldier. Marlborough's other principal victories were those of Ramillies, in 1706; Oudenard, in 1708; and Malplaquet in 1709. His Grace m. 1678, Sarah, dau. and co-heir of Richard Jennings, Esq. of Sandridge, co. Hertford, by whom (who was the celebrated Sarah, Duchess of Marlborough, the favourite of Queen ANNE, and who d. 1744) he had issue,

The Duke having no prospect of heirs male after the de of his only son, and being desirous of having his hono and dignities, together with the manor of Woodstock house of Blenheim, settled on his posterity, an Act for t purpose obtained the royal assent, 21 Dec. 1706; and 28 Jan. ensuing, the like sanction was given to another for settling on him and his posterity a pension of £5 per annum. The Emperor LEOPOLD, in consideration of eminent services performed by the Duke of Marlborou created him a Prince of the Empire in 1704; and majesty's son and successor, the Emperor JOSEPH, bestow upon his grace the principality of Mindelheim, in Sual The Duke lost the royal favour and his command at end of the reign of Queen ANNE, but regained both on accession of GEORGE I. Perth; M.A. Oxford; Barrister at Law; b. 5 Nov. 1840; s. his cousin in 1895 as 15th earl; m. 6 S-pt. 1877, Anna-Mary, dau. of Rev. George J. Collinson, of Clapham. His lordship assumed the additional surname of Gray.

Lineage.

The old Celtic earldom of Moray came to an end early in the reign of David I. A new earldom of Moray, granted by Robert Bruce to his nephew, Thomas Randolph, reverted to the crown in the reign of David II. Robert II. conferred the earldom on his son-in-law, John Dunbar, and it was forfeited in the persons of Earl Archibald Douglas and his Countess in 1455, after which it was for a short time possessed by a son of James II. who d. in infancy. From 1501 to 1544, James Stewart, natural son of James IV. was Earl of Moray, and on his decease the earldom once more lapsed to the crown. On 13 Feb. 1548-9, under the regency of Arran, a charter of the earldom of Moray was granted to George, 3rd Earl of Huntly, a grant voided by his attainder on 28 May, 1563.

The next possessor of the earldom, and first of the present earls of Moray, was James Stewart, prior of St. Andrews, son of James V. by Margaret, dau. of John, 4th Lord Erskine. On 30 Jan. 1561-2 (Huntly's grant not having been formally recalled), a charter of the earldom of Moray and Lordship of Abernethy and Strathearn (i.e. Strathdearn in Moray), in favour of James Stewart, with remainder to the heirs male of his body, passed the Privy Seal, but it was prudently kept in retentis; and on 7 Feb. following he had the earldom of Mar bestowed on him in its place with the same limitation. But after Huntly's fall Queen Mary, finding that the earldom of Mar belonged of right to Lord Erskine, granted her brother a new charter of the earldom of Moray of date 22 Jan. 1563-4, with the same remainder. A later charter, with remainder to heirs general, was granted him on 1 June, 1566, and ratified in Parliament on 19 April, 1567. The Earl of Moray was Regent of Scotland from 22 Aug. 1567, till his assassination in Linlithgow by Hamilton of Bothwellhaugh on 21 Jan. 1569-70. In 1599, the Regent Earl's charter of 1566 was ratified in his favour. He accompanied James VI. to England in 1603, resigned the earldom of Moray, Lordship of Doune, &c. into the king's hands, and on 17 April, 1611, obtained a charter with a new erection of the earldom in favour of himself and the heirs male of his body, with remainder to his brother Francis and the heirs male of his body, whom failing, to his nearest heirs and assignees. Family of Mowbray.

The illustrious family of Mowbray derived its descent from Roger de Moribray or Moubray, whose name is found in Brompton's "Liste des Conquerants d'Angleterre," the of Battle Abbey, and other archives, as one of the ers of the Norman Army which achieved the conquest ngland.

OGER DE MOWBRAY, who s. to the Mowbray estates, was first of the family to whom a valid writ of summons to liament is now on record. He was summoned with the r peers of the realm in the Parliament held at Shrews- y, 11 EDWARD I., and from that time to 25 EDWARD I. y one writ of summons anterior to the writ of 11 EDWARD hat of 49 HENRY III. is recorded; and the House of Lords ntly decided that as that writ was issued by Simon de tfort whilst in rebellion, and as de Montfort's proceed- were declared void by Act of Parliament, no peerage ld be created by the writs of 49 HENRY III. The writ 11 EDWARD I. is consequently the earliest writ of mons on record which could create a dignity of the age. He d. at Ghent in 1298, and was buried at ntains Abbey. By his wife, Rose, the sister of Gilbert, l of Clare, he had a son,

OHN, Lord Mowbray, who had livery of his father's ds, was summoned to Parliament from 1 to 14 VARD II., and was present in Parliament as a Lord Parliament in 12 EDWARD II. He took part in the tch wars, and was knighted with Prince Edward in 35 vard I. In 6 Edward II. he was made governor of the of York, and in the eleventh year of the same king ernor of Malton and Scarborough Castles. Having m. e, dau. and co-heir of William, Lord de Braose, he took session upon his father-in-law's death, of the barony of ver and of the Barony of Brember in Sussex, as his 's inheritance, without sueing out livery from the wn, and in consequence of this marriage his descendants ame Lords Braose of Gower and Brember. John, Lord vbray, was one of those who were executed at York in 2 for having been connected with the rising of the thern earls against the Despencers, and his estates were consequence seized by the Crown, but no attainder ued. By his wife Alice de Braose he had a son,

OHN, Lord Mowbray, who was of full age at his father's th, and upon the accession of EDWARD III. obtained ry of his inheritance. He took part in the wars in tland and France and was made Governor of Berwick 1 EDWARD III. He was summoned to Parliament from 34 EDWARD III., and d. of the plague at York in 1. He m. Joan, dau. of Henry, Earl of Lancaster, by m he had a son and heir,

OHN, Lord Mowbray, who had livery of his father's lands 35 EDWARD III., and was summoned to Parliament from o 39 EDWARD III. He was slain near Constantinople his way to the Holy Land in 1368. By his m. with abeth, dau. and heir of John, Lord Segrave, and Mar- et, Countess of Norfolk, dau. of Thomas de Brotherton, l of Norfolk, and fifth son of EDWARD I., the dignity of d Segrave and the Segrave estates vested in him. s eldest son by Lady Segrave was

OHN, Lord Mowbray, 6th Lord Segrave, who was four rs old at the time of his father's death. He was created l of Nottingham at the Coronation of RICHARD II. in 7, and he and William de Latimer made claim to rcise on that day the office of Almoner, which had onged to their ancestor, William de Beauchamp, of lford. He d. under age and unmarried, in 1382, and s s. in his family dignities by his brother, HOMAS, Lord Mowbray and Segrave, who was created l of Nottingham in 1382, and was summoned to Parlia- nt under that title from 7 to 10 RICHARD II. (1383 to 6), in which year he was created Earl Marshal, on ac- nt of his descent from Thomas de Brotherton, Earl of rfolk. In 12 RICHARD II. he had livery of his lands as r of his brother. He was raised to the further dignity Duke of Norfolk in 1397. In the war with France he s appointed to a naval command, and took part in the ture of Brest, and was made the king's lieutenant in lais, Picardy, and Artois. For his services in this acity he received a grant of 200 marks for life, and was thorised to bear for his crest a golden leopard, with a onet of silver. In 1398 he was accused by Henry lingbroke, Earl of Hereford, of having spoken slander- sly of the king whom he charged with a design of stroying the principal members of the nobility. Norfolk nied the accusation, and desired Hereford to prove its th in single combat. The lists were set at Coventry in e presence of the king and the peers of the disputants, t on the eve of the contest the king interposed, and bade the combat. Both Norfolk and Hereford were nished, the former for life and the other for ten years.

Norfolk d. of the plague at Venice in 1399. By his first wife Elizabeth, dau. and heir of John Lord Strange of Blackmere, he had no issue. He m. 2ndly, Elizabeth, dau. and co-heir of Richard FitzAlan, Earl of Arundel and Surrey, and widow of William Montacute, eldest son of the Earl of Salisbury, and by her (who m. 3rdly, Sir Gerard Uffleete, and 4thly, Sir Robert Goushell) he left two sons, Thomas; and John; and two daus. Margaret, the wife of Sir Robert Howard; and Isabel, the wife of James Lord Berkeley.

THOMAS, Lord Mowbray and Segrave, succeeded his father as Earl of Norfolk and Nottingham, and Earl Marshal. The title of Duke of Norfolk was withheld from him upon the erroneous plea that, having been conferred upon him in the Parliament of 21 RICHARD II., the proceedings in which were avoided by an Act of 1 HENRY IV., the dignity of Duke of Norfolk fell under that Act. In 1405 he joined in the Rebellion of Scrope, Archbishop of York, and other nobles, against HENRY IV., and in consequence was arrested and beheaded at York without a trial. There was consequently no attainder. He married Constance, daughter and heir of John Holland, Earl of Huntingdon, Duke of Exeter, but dying under age and without issue his next heir was his brother.

JOHN, Lord Mowbray and Segrave, who, on proof of his age, obtained livery of the family estates. He served under HENRY V. in the war with France, and was retained by special indenture for military duties in 8 HENRY VI. In the Parliament of 3 HENRY VI. he was declared entitled to the dignity of Duke of Norfolk. By his wife Katherine, daughter of Ralph Nevill, Earl of Westmoreland, he had a son and heir,

JOHN, Lord Mowbray and Segrave, who in 17 HENRY VI., was sent as Ambassador to negotiate peace between England and France. In 23 HENRY VI., he obtained a confirmation of the title of Duke of Norfolk conferred on his grandfather by the charter of 21 RICHARD II. In 1 EDWARD IV. (1461), he was appointed Justice in Eyre of the forests south of Trent, and his death occurred in the same year. He married Eleanor, daughter of William Lord Bourchier by whom he had a son,

JOHN, 10th Baron Mowbray and 11th Baron Segrave, who in 29 HENRY V., was created Earl of Warren and Surrey. He married Elizabeth, daughter of John Talbot, Earl of Shrewsbury, and died in 1475, leaving a daughter and heir, ANNE, LADY MOWBRAY AND SEGRAVE, then six years of age. She is styled in her father's inquisition "Domina de Mowbray." In January 1476 she was affianced to Richard, Duke of York, second son of EDWARD IV. He was created Duke of Norfolk and Earl Warren; and was murdered in 1483. The Duchess had previously died under age and without issue. By this event the inheritance of the Mowbrays reverted to the heirs of Margaret and Isabel daughters of Thomas de Mowbray, first Duke of Norfolk, and wives respectively of Sir Robert Howard and James Lord Berkeley, and the Barony of Mowbray, as well as those of Segrave and Braose, fell into abeyance between the sons of Sir Robert Howard and Lord Berkeley.

The abeyance of the Barony of Mowbray, as well as that of Segrave, was determined by king RICHARD III. in favour of

JOHN, Lord Howard, the son of Lady Margaret Mowbray and Sir Robert Howard, and the king also created him Duke of Norfolk and Earl Marshal of England, and appointed him High Steward of England for his coronation. The Duke fell at Bosworth Field, and was attainted. He left issue by his wife Katherine, daughter of William Lord Moleyns. His son and heir,

THOMAS, Lord Mowbray and Segrave, and Earl of Surrey, who in 2 HENRY VIII., was created Earl Marshal of England, and in recognition of his victory at Flodden Field in 1513 further received the dignity of Duke of Norfolk. He was fully restored as heir to his father. He married Elizabeth, daughter and sole heir of Sir Frederick Tilney by whom he left as his successor his son,

THOMAS, Lord Mowbray and Segrave, Earl of Surrey and Duke of Norfolk. He and his son Henry, Lord Surrey, were tried for high treason for bearing the coat of arms of Edward the Confessor. Henry, Earl of Surrey, was executed leaving by his wife, Lady Frances de Vere, daughter of John, Earl of Oxford, a son Thomas, but the attainder of the Duke of Norfolk was never completed, and the attainder against the Earl of Surrey was made void in 1 MARY. The Duke was s. in his honours by his grandson,

THOMAS, Lord Mowbray and Segrave, Duke of Norfolk, Earl Marshal and Earl of Surrey, who was tried for high treason in 1572, found guilty, and executed. He married Mary daughter and co-heir of Henry Fitz Alan Earl of Arundel and their only son Philip, Earl of Arundel, by seisin of Arundel Castle and Honor, was in 1581 placed in Parliament as the Premier Earl. He was found guilty of high treason in 1589, and died a prisoner in the Tower of London. By his wife Anne, daughter and co-heir of Thomas, Lord Dacre of the North, he left issue an only son,

THOMAS, who was under age at his father's death. In 1 JAMES I., he was restored in blood as Earl of Arundel and Earl of Surrey, and also to the baronies of which his grandfather Thomas, Duke of Norfolk, had been seised, and in consequence he became Lord Mowbray and Segrave. In 1644 he was created Earl of Norfolk. He m. Lady Alatheia Talbot, daughter and sole heir of Gilbert, seventh Earl of Shrewsbury, who, on the death of her sisters, became Baroness Furnival, Talbot, and Strange. Their eldest son Henry, Lord Howard, was summoned to Parliament in his father's barony of Mowbray on 21 March, 1639-40, and on 16 April, 1640, he was introduced and placed at the head of the Barons' Bench. Thomas, Earl of Arundel and Surrey, was succeeded at his death in 1646 by his said son,

HENRY, Lord Mowbray and Segrave, who died in 1652, leaving by his wife, Lady Elizabeth, daughter of Esmé, Duke of Lennox in Scotland, and Earl of Richmond in England, an eldest son and successor,

THOMAS, Lord Mowbray and Segrave, Earl of Arundel, Surrey, and Norfolk. In 1661 he was restored to the Dukedom of Norfolk. He died abroad and unmarried in 1677, and was s. by his brother, HENRY, Lord Mowbray and Segrave, Duke of Norfolk, Earl Marshal, Earl of Arundel, Surrey, and Norfolk, who was created Baron Howard of Castle Rising in 1669 and Earl of Norwich in 1672.

In 1670 the Lord Berkeley who claimed precedency above all barons then sitting as barons in the House of Lords, quitted precedence to him as Lord Mowbray. He married Lady Anne Somerset, daughter of Edward, Marquess of Worcester, by whom he left as his successor his son,

HENRY, Lord Mowbray and Segrave, Duke of Norfolk, Earl of Arundel, &c., who had been summoned, vitâ patris, in his father's barony of Mowbray and placed at the head of the Barons' Bench. He was elected Knight of the Garter, and on his Garter plate he is styled Premier Duke, Earl and Baron of England. He was Premier Baron as Lord Mowbray and Premier Earl as Earl of Arundel. He married Mary Lady Mordaunt, daughter and heir of Henry, Earl of Peterborough and Lord Mordaunt, but had no issue. He was succeeded on his death in 1701 by his nephew (the eldest son of his brother Lord Thomas Howard),

THOMAS, Lord Mowbray and Segrave, Duke of Norfolk, &c., who married Mary, daughter and heir of Sir Nicholas Shireburn of Stonyhurst, He died without issue in 1732, and was s. by his brother, EDWARD, Lord Mowbray and Segrave, Duke of Norfolk, &c. He married Mary, daughter, and one of the co-heirs of Edward Blount of Blagdon, but had no issue, and died in 1777, when the Dukedom of Norfolk devolved on the heir male of his illustrious house, CHARLES HOWARD, who became 10th Duke (see NORFOLK, D.), and the baronies of Mowbray and Segrave, and those of Howard, Braose of Gower, Greystock, Ferrers of Wemme, Talbot, Strange of Blackmere, Furnival, and Giffard of Brimmesfield, fell into abeyance between Winifred Howard and Anne Howard, the daughters of Philip Howard (the brother of the said Thomas, Duke of Norfolk) who died in 1749, his only son Edward Howard, having died without issue in 1767.

Winifred Howard married William, afterwards the fifteenth Lord Stourton, from whom the present Lord Stourton is descended. Anne Howard married Robert Edward, ninth Lord Petre from whom the present Lord Petre is descended.

The abeyance of the baronies of Mowbray and Segrave, was in 1877 terminated in favour of Alfred Joseph, the nineteenth Lord Stourton, who, upon the determination of the abeyance, became the twenty-third Lord Mowbray and the twenty fourth Lord Segrave. The House of Lords on July 26th, 1877 resolved that it was proved by the writ of summons addressed to Roger de Mowbray in 11 EDWARD I., and the other evidence adduced on behalf of the petitioner, that the barony of Mowbray, was in the reign of EDWARD I. vested in Roger de Mowbray.

The House came to a similar resolution in regard to the barony of Segrave, and decided that the writs of summons of 49 HENRY III. could not create Peerages, and in consequence that the writ of 11 EDWARD I. is the earliest writ on record to which the creation of a Peerage can be referred. Lord Segrave was summoned 49 HENRY III. and was found to be a rebel for his adherence to Simon de Montfort, but was afterwards pardoned. The House, however, referred the creation of his Peerage to the writ of 11 EDWARD I. It is, therefore, proved that Roger Lord Mowbray was summoned to Parliament by one of the earliest writs which could create a Peerage, and as the Lords Mowbray have always claimed to be the Premier Barons of England and as their right was fully admitted by the Crown in the reigns of CHARLES I. and CHARLES II., on the election of the then Lords Mowbray as Knights of the Garter, Lord Mowbray, Segrave, and Stourton, insists that as it has been decided that the writ of summons of the HENRY III., under which Lord de Ros is placed in the House of Lords, could not create a Peerage, he is entitled to be placed as the Premier Baron of England.

Lineage.

The family of Nelson appears to have been of ancient settlement in the co. of Lancaster. Their seat at Mawdesley, where they held lands by military service, is now in possession of the Riddells of Northumberland, to whom it came by female descent: some notice of them will be found in the pedigree of Earl Nelson, in Sir Richard Hoare's History of South Wilts, under the head of Parish of Downton, p. 50. There is little doubt that the immediate ancestry of William Nelson, living temp. Elizabeth and Edward VI., came out of Lancashire in the suite of Dr. James Stanley, Warden of Manchester, youngest son of Thomas Stanley, 1st Earl of Derby, which Dr. James Stanley was elected Bishop of Ely, 22nd Henry VII., and settled in Norfolk, where the See of Ely had considerable property. The arms of Nelson of Mawdesley were borne by the Norfolk Nelsons, as may be seen in old books and papers formerly belonging to the Rev. Edmund Nelson, of Burnham Thorpe.

The above-mentioned WILLIAM NELSON, living temp. ELIZABETH and EDWARD VI., was father of THOMAS NELSON of Scarning, Norfolk, b. there about 1590, whose son EDMUND, also b. at Scarning, 1625, was father of

WILLIAM NELSON, of Dunham Parva, Norfolk, b. at Scarning, 1654, m. Mary, dau. of Thomas Shene, of Dunham Parva, Norfolk, and by her (who d. 2 Jan. 1731) left at his death, 27 Jan. 1713, three sons,

I. Thomas, of Sporle, b. 19 July, 1683; d. 22 April, 1762: his son, the Rev. Edmund Nelson, M.A., rector of Conyham, Norfolk, was father of the Rev. James Nelson, also rector of Conyham, and of Charles Nelson, post captain, R.N., both deceased.

II. William, of Dunham Parva and Curds Hall, Fransham, Norfolk, b. 18 Feb. 1688, d. 29 Jan. 1773; his son, the Rev. William Nelson, of Curds Hall, rector of Hillington and Hilgay, Norfolk, left three daus., the eldest of whom inherited his estates.

† The Radcliffes, of Derwentwater, were one of the oldest families in Cumberland. He was a perfect cavalier, and a fine specimen of an English nobleman; he was amiable, brave, open, generous, hospitable, and humane. He gave bread to multitudes of people whom he employed on his estate; the poor, the widow, the orphan, rejoiced in his bounty. He was only twenty-eight years of age when he was brought to the scaffold, and he left a young and beautiful widow, Anne-Maria, the dau. of Sir John Webb, Bart., and two infant children, a son and a dau., to lament his death and suffer by his attainder. That exquisitely touching ballad, "Farewell to Lochaber," is said to have been written by the Earl, and addressed to his wife, on the eve of his departure for the miserable venture wherein he forfeited life, lands, and nobility. ‡ The family of Bandini was originally seated in Tuscany, and was one of the most ancient and noble houses of that duchy. Bernard Bandini, in 1478, took a prominent part in the conspiracy against the Medicis, called the Conjuration of Pazzi, and in consequence the family quitted Tuscany, and established themselves in the Roman States. In 1512, Leonardo Bandini was master of the horse to Pope JULIUS II., and commanded the Papal army at the siege of Pesaro, a fortress which had been seized by Galeazzo Sforza, and upon its reduction was appointed Governor of the castle. Cornelius Bandini highly distinguished himself at the battle of Montemurlo, in 1537. On the 29th of October, 1721, the Castle of Varano, and the adjoining territory, were erected into a lordship, in favour of the Bandini family; and Alexander Bandini, Lord of Varano, and several other lordships, and Chamberlain to the Emperor, was, on the 30th of May, 1753, created Marquess Bandini of Lanciano and Rustano, in the Roman States. Lineage.

The Ducal and illustrious Howards stand, next to the Blood Royal, at the head of the Peerage of England, and represent a family undoubtedly of Saxon origin. Recent enquiries unable us to trace the ancestors of the Howards to a period much more remote than Sir William Dugdale thought possible, and to establish the pedigree by undoubted evidence. Ingulph and Matthew Paris concur in stating that Howard, or Hereward, was living in the reign of King Edgar, 957 to 973, and that he was a kinsman of Duke Oslac, and that his son, Leofric, was the father of Hereward, who was banished by the Conqueror. The very ancient book of the Church of Ely, "Historia Ecclesiæ Eliensis," entirely confirms the statement. It appears that Hereward was subsequently allowed to return, and it is certain that his family retained Wigenhall and other portions of their inheritance in Norfolk. Hereward's grandson, Hereward, or Howard, and his wife, Wilburga, in the reign of Henry the Second granted a carucate of land in Terrington, in Norfolk, to the church of Len (Lynn), and directed that prayers should be said for the souls of Hereward, his father, and of Hereward the Banished, or the Exile, his grandfather. Robert Howard, the son of Hereward, was seised of Wigenhall, Terrington, and other estates in Norfolk, and was the father of John Hereword, or Howard, of Wigenhall, who, by Lucy Germund, his wife, was the father of

And the same year, having affairs to transact beyond the seas, the king granted him his protection, dated 24 April, 1337, to be in force till the 1st of Aug. following. Sir John was sheriff of Norfolk in 1345. He m. Alice, dau. of Sir Robert de Boys, and sister and heir of Sir Robert de Boys, of Furseld, in Norfolk, by which alliance the whole inheritance of the Boyses came into the Howard family. Margaret, m. to Wm. Daniel, Baron of Rathwire, in Ireland; and an only son,

SIR JOHN HOWARD, an eminent Yorkist, not only on account of his princely birth (maternally) and magnificent fortune, but from the stations of high trust which at different periods had devolved upon him. After distinguishing himself very early in life in the French wars of HENRY VI., Sir John was constituted by EDWARD IV., in 1461, constable of the castle of Norwich, appointed sheriff of the cos. of Norfolk and Suffolk, and granted some of the forfeited manors of James Butler, Earl of Wiltshire, in England, and of Ormonde, in Ireland. In 1468, being treasurer of the king's household, Sir John Howard obtained a grant of the whole benefit that should accrue to the king by coinage of money in the city and Tower of London, or elsewhere in the realm of England, so long as he should continue in that office. In 1470, when he was summoned to parliament under the title of Lord Howard, he was made captain-general of all the king's forces at sea for resisting the attempts of the Lancastrians, then rallying under Nevill, arl of Warwick, the Duke of Clarence, and others. In 71, his lordship was constituted deputy-governor of Calais d the marches adjacent; and his summons to parliament a Baron continued until he was created Earl Marshal of ngland, and DUKE OF NORFOLK, 28 June, 1483, when his n and heir, Thomas Howard, was created Earl of Surrey. e duke had been previously invested with the insignia the Garter. As Earl-Marshal, his grace was empowered the king's presence or absence) to bear a golden staff, oped at each end with black, the upper part thereof to be orned with the royal arms, and the lower with those of s own family; and for the better support of the dignity of e said office, he obtained a grant to himself, and his heirs r ever, of £20 annually, payable half-yearly, out of the e-farm rent of Ipswich, in Suffolk. His grace was subquently constituted lord-admiral of England, Ireland, and quitaine, for life, and obtained grants of divers manors d lordships in the cos. of Suffolk, Kent, Cambridge, rnwall, Somerset, and Wilts. But he did not long enjoy ese great possessions; for the next year, being with CHARD. at Bosworth Field, he fell in leading the van of at prince's army. His grace was warned by some of his ends to refrain from attending his sovereign to the field; d the night previous to the battle the following distich as set upon his gate: —

"Jockey of Norfolk, be not too bold,
For Dickon thy master is bought and sold."

t he would not desert his King, Richard; but as he had ithfully lived under him, so he manfully died by his side. is grace m. 1st, Katherine, dau. of William, Lord Moleyns, whom he had issue, e duke was attainted by parliament, 7 Nov. 1485, when l his honours became forfeited; while his only son,

THOMAS, Earl of Surrey, being also attainted, lost his rldom. His lordship was, however, after suffering an prisonment of three years in the Tower, restored in 89, and created Duke of Norfolk and earl-marshal, 1 Feb. 14, installed a Knight of the Garter, and nominated lordeasurer. This nobleman was a distinguished military mmander, and celebrated, as Lord Surrey, for the victory achieved over the Scottish monarch at Flodden, in hich that prince (JAMES IV.) fell, 9 Sept. 1513. His grace . 1st, Elizabeth, dau. and heir of Sir Frederick Tilney, Boston, co. Lincoln, Knt., and widow of Sir Humphrey ourchier, K.B., son of John, Lord Berners, by whom he d, with other issue,

I. HENRY, K.G., Earl of Surrey, b. in 1517, one of the brightest ornaments of the house of Howard, whose iniquitous execution was the last tyrannical act of HENRY VIII. This distinguished statesman, poet, and warrior, Sir Egerton Brydges thus characterizes:—"Excellent in arts and in arms; a man of learning, a genius, and a hero; of a generous temper and a refined heart; he united all the gallantry and unbroken spirit of a rude age with all the elegance and grace of a polished era. With a splendour of descent, in possession of the highest honours and abundant wealth, he relaxed not his efforts to deserve distinction by his personal worth. Conspicuous in the rough exercises of tilts and tournaments, and commanding armies with skill and bravery in expeditions against the Scots under his father, he found time, at a period when our literature was rude and barbarous, to cultivate his mind with all the exquisite spirit of the models of Greece and Rome, to catch the excellencies of the revived muses of Italy, and to produce in his own language, compositions, which, in simplicity, perspicuity, graceful ornament, and just and natural thought, exhibited a shining contrast with the works of his predecessors, and an example which his successors long attempted in vain to follow." The Earl of Surrey underwent the penalty of his unjust sentence during the lifetime of his father (whom the death of the king preserved from the same fate), 21 Jan. 1547, leaving issue by his wife, Lady Frances Vere, dau. of John, 15th Earl of Oxford,

The Duke, prior to his accession to the peerage, s in Parliament for Beeralston, 1831-2, and for Nort Northumberland, 1852-65; he was a lord of t admiralty, 1858, vice-president of the Board Trade 1859, and Lord Privy Seal from 1878 to 188

Lineage.

The house of Percy was founded in England by one of t Norman chieftains (William de Percy), who accompani William the Conqueror in 1066, and it derives its name fro the village of Percy, near Villedieu. The family of Percy, of No mandy, deduced its pedigree from Geoffrey (son of Mainfre a Danish chieftain), who assisted Rollo, in 912, in subjugati that principality, and aquired considerable possessions there

William de Percy being in high favour with Willia the Conqueror, obtained, according to Madox, in his Baron Anglica, a barony of thirty knights' fees from that m narch in his new dominions, and thus became a feudal lo of the realm from the Conquest. This lord, William Percy, who was distinguished among his contemporari by the addition of als Gernons (William with the Whisker whence his posterity have constantly borne the name Algernon, restored, or rather refounded, the famous abb of St. Hilda, in Yorkshire, of which his brother, Serlo Percy, became first prior. Accompanying, however, Dul Robert in the first crusade, 1096, he died at Mountjoy, ne Jerusalem, the celebrated eminence whence the pilgrims the cross first viewed the holy city, leaving four sons a two daus., by his wife, Emma de Port, a lady of Sax descent, whose lands were amongst those bestowed up him by the Conqueror; and, according to an ancie writer, "he wedded hyr that was very heire to them, discharging of his conscience." His lordship was s. in h feudal rights and possessions by his eldest son,

Alan de Percy, 2nd baron, surnamed The Great Alan who m. Emma, dau. of Gilbert de Gaunt (which Gilbe was son of Baldwin, Earl of Flanders, and nephew of Que Maud, wife of William the Conqueror), and was s. by h eldest son,

William de Percy, 3rd baron, at whose decease t eldest branch of the first race of Percys, from Normand became extinct in the male line, and their great inheritan devolved upon his lordship's two daus. (by Alice de Tu bridge, dau. of Richard, Earl of Clare, who was usual styled De Tunbridge, from his castle of that name) t Ladies Maude and Agnes de Percy, successively,

Maude de Percy, the elder, was 1st wife of William Newburgh, Earl of Warwick, by whom (who d. in the Ho Land, A.D. 1184) she had no issue. Her ladyship d. 1204-5, and then the whole possessions of the Percys d scended to the family of her sister.

Agnes de Percy, who m. Josceline, of Lovain, broth of Queen Adeliza, 2nd wife of Henry I., and son of Go frey Barbatus, Duke of Lower Brabant, and Count of Br bant, who was descended from the Emperor Charlemagn Her ladyship, it is stated, would only consent, howeve to this great alliance upon condition that Josceline shou adopt either the surname or arms of Percy; the form of which, says the old family tradition, he according assumed, and retained his own paternal coat, in ord to perpetuate his claim to the principality of his fathe should the elder line of the reigning duke, at a period, become extinct. The matter is thus stated in t great old pedigree at Sion House: "The ancient arms Hainault this Lord Jocelyn retained, and gave his childr the surname of Perci." Of this illustrious alliance the were several children, of whom,

I. Henry de Percy, the eldest son, who appears to have di before his mother, m. Isabel, dau. of Adam de Brus, Lord Skelton, with whom he had the manor of Levington, which he and his heirs were to repair to Skelton Castle eve ristmas-day, and to lead the lady of the castle from her amber to the chapel to mass, and thence to her chamber ain, and after dining with her to depart. This Henry left o sons,

WILLIAM, of whom presently.
Henry, ancestor of the Percys of Hesset, Sussex.

RICHARD DE PERCY, the youngest son of Agnes and Josce- ne, got possession of the entire property of his aunt, Maud, ountess of Warwick, and even of a great proportion of that his mother, and retained the same during the principal rt of his life; at length, subsequently to infinite litigation, was settled between him and his nephew, William de ercy, to whom the inheritance belonged, after a solemn aring before the king in person, 6 July, 1234 (18th HENRY I.), that the estates should be divided into equal portions tween the parties during Richard's life; and that, after s death, all the ancient patrimony of the Percy family ould devolve upon his nephew aforesaid, a small reserva- on having been made for Richard's son and heir, Henry de ercy. This Richard de Percy continued for the whole of his e at the head of the family, and enjoyed all its baronial ghts. He was one of those powerful feudal lords who took arms, in 1215, against King JOHN, and having a principal nd in extorting the Great Charter of English freedom, was osen one of the twenty-five guardians to see the Magna harta duly observed. He d. about 1244, and then his ephew,

ILLIAM DE PERCY, came into full possession of all those cs and properties which had been usurped at the de- e of his mother, but did not live long to enjoy them. d. in 1245, and was s. by his son (by his 2nd wife, Elena, of Ingelram de Baliol, by whom he acquired, in dower, on, afterwards called Dalton Percy, in the Bishopric of am),

ENRY DE PERCY, who m. Alianore, dau. of John Plan- net, Earl of Warren and Surrey; and dying in 1272, s. by his only surviving son,

ENRY DE PERCY, 9th feudal lord, who was summoned arliament from 6 Feb. 1299 (27th EDWARD I) to 20 July, (8th EDWARD II.). This nobleman obtained, 19 Nov. , from Anthony Beck, Bishop of Durham, by purchase, ant of the Barony of Alnwick, co. Northumberland. lordship was one of the great barons who subscribed, 391, the celebrated letter to Pope BONIFACE VIII. upon attempt of his holiness to interpose in the affairs of the dom, intimating "That their king was not to answer in gment, for any rights of the crown of England, before tribunal under Heaven, &c., and that, by the help of , they would resolutely, and with all their force, main- against all men." He d. in 1315, and was s. by his son, ENRY DE PERCY, 2nd Lord Percy of Alnwick. This no- nan had a grant from the crown, in the 2nd of EDWARD , of the reversion of the Barony and Castle of Wark- th, &c. He had summons to parliament from 1322 to time of his death, 26 Feb. 1351-2, when he was s. by his est son (by Idonia, dau. of Robert, Lord Clifford).

He m. Elizabeth, dau. of Edward Mortimer, Earl of March, by Philippa, dau. and heir of Lionel Plantagenet, Duke of Clarence, and falling at the battle of Shrewsbury, in 1403, left issue,

I. Margaret.

The earl m. 2ndly, MAUD, sister and heir of Anthony, Lord Lucy, which Anthony settled upon his lordship and his heirs the Honour and Castle of Cockermouth, with other great estates, on condition that the arms of his sister should be for ever quartered with those of the Percys. In the 7th year of the same monarch, the earl having been elected one of the knights of the Garter, the King bestowed upon him the robes of the order out of the royal wardrobe. Some years afterwards, however, being proclaimed a traitor, and his lands declared forfeited by King RICHARD, his lordship, in conjunction with his son, Sir Henry Percy, and Henry, Duke of Lancaster, effected the dethronement of that monarch, and placed the crown upon the head of Henry, Duke of Lancaster, under the title of HENRY IV. Again dissatisfied with the government, the Earl is charged with concerting the rebellion, in which his son HOTSPUR, and his brother, the Earl of Worcester, engaged, in 1403, for transferring the sceptre to Mortimer, Earl of March, then a boy. Of these two eminent persons Sir Henry Percy fell, performing prodigies of valour, at Battle Field, near Shrewsbury, 21 July, 1403; and Thomas Percy, Earl of Worcester, was beheaded after the battle at Shrewsbury, The Earl of Northumberland fell subsequently (29 Feb. 1407-8), in arms against the king, at Bramham Moor, near Halsewood, when his honours became forfeited under an attainder, but were restored, in 1414, to his grandson,

HENRY PERCY, 2nd Earl of Northumberland, who m. Lady Eleanor Nevil, dau. of Ralph, 1st Earl of Westmorland, and Joan de Beaufort, dau. of John of Gaunt, and aunt of HENRY V. Of this nobleman and his countess and their issue, an account is given in a very curious MS. preserved in the British Museum, and there said to be extracted "ex Registro Monasterij de Whitbye." His lordship, who was lord-high-constable, fell at the battle of St. Albans, 23 May, 1455, on the side of HENRY VI., and was s. by his eldest surviving son,

HENRY, 3rd earl, who m. Eleanor, dau. and sole heir of Richard Poynings, who d. in the lifetime of his father, Lord Poynings; by which marriage the baronies of Poynings, Fitzpayne, and Bryan, came into the family of Percy; and Sir Henry Percy was summoned to parliament, while his father, the Earl of Northumberland, yet lived (29th HENRY VI.), as Baron Poynings. His lordship fell, leading the van of the Lancastrians, sword in hand, at the battle of Towton, 29 March, 1461, and his honours became subsequently forfeited by an act of attainder, but were restored to his only son,

HENRY, 4th earl, K.G., who was confined in the Tower of London from the death of his father until 27 Oct. 1469; when, being brought before EDWARD IV., at his palace of Westminster, he subscribed an oath of allegiance, and was restored to his freedom and dignity, although the reversal of his father's attainder does not appear upon the rolls of parliament. The king had previously created John, Lord Montague, Earl of Northumberland, but upon the re-establishment of the rightful earl, Lord Montague was created Marquess of Montague. This Henry, 4th earl, fell a victim, in 1489, to the avarice of HENRY VII. In that year, parliament having granted the king a subsidy for carrying on the war in Bretagne, the Earl of Northumberland, as lord-lieut. of the co., was empowered to enforce the same; but the tax causing a general commotion, his lordship wrote to inform the king of the discontent, and praying an abatement; to which HENRY peremptorily replied, "that not a penny should be abated;" which message being delivered incautiously by the earl to the populace, who had assembled to complain of their grievances, they broke into his house (supposing him to be the promoter of their sufferings), Cocklodge, in Yorkshire, and murdered his lordship and some of his attendants, 28 April, 1489. The earl m. Maud, dau. of William Herbert, 1st Earl of Pembroke, and was s. by his eldest son,

HENRY-ALGERNON, 5th earl, K.G., who m. Catherine, dau and co-heir of Sir Robert Spencer, Knt. of Spencer-Court, Devon (by Eleanor his wife, dau., and at length co-heir, Edmond Beaufort, Duke of Somerset), and had,

Maud, m. to Lord Coniers.

His lordship d. in 1527, and was s. by his eldest son,

HENRY-ALGERNON, 6th earl, K.G. This nobleman entertained a strong and early passion for the beautiful ANNE BOLEYN, but urged by the irresistible influence of HENRY VIII., his father compelled him to renounce all intention of making that lady his wife, and to espouse the Lady Mary Talbot, dau. of George, Earl of Shrewsbury. His lordship d. without issue, in 1537, and his brother, Sir Thomas Percy, having been previously attainted and executed, all the honours of the family became forfeited, and the title of Duke of Northumberland was conferred, by EDWARD VI., upon John Dudley, Earl of Warwick; but that nobleman having forfeited his life and honours by treason against Queen MARY, in 1553, her majesty was pleased to advance, by letters patent, dated 30 April, 1557,

THOMAS PERCY, son of the attainted Sir Thomas Percy, to the degree of a baron, by the title of Baron Percy of Cockermouth, and on the day following, his lordship was created Earl of Northumberland, with remainder to Henry Percy, his brother, &c. This nobleman having conspired against Queen ELIZABETH, was beheaded at York, 22 Aug. 1572 (avowing the Pope's supremacy, and affirming the realm to be in a state of schism, and those obedient to ELIZABETH no better than heretics), when his honours would have fallen under his attainder, but for the reversionary clause in favour of his brother,

The eldest son,

ALEXANDER OGILVY, 2nd baron of Inverquharity, who lost his life at the memorable battle of Arbroath, which he fought against the Lindsays, 23 Jan. 1445, got a charter from Alexander Seton, Lord of Gordon, of the lands of Newton, Herdhill, Kinnordie, Balbredie, &c., in the barony of Kirriemuir, dated the 15th of June, 1434; also a charter from Nichol Borthwick, of the lands of Ladinch, &c., dated the 15th of March, 1438; and a charter from William Gifford, of Balnagarroch, of the lands of Little Migry, &c., dated the 1st of April, 1439; all which are confirmed by a charter under the great seal. Lineage.

The history of the illustrious house of BUTLER of ORMONDE, is, in point of fact, the history of Ireland from the time of the Anglo-Norman invasion. At the head of the great nobility of that country have ever stood the BUTLERS and the GERALDINES, rivals in power and equals in renown. For ages their story fills the pages of the Irish annals, from the advent of Theobald Fitz-Walter, in the reign of HENRY II., down to the death of James, 2nd Duke of Ormonde, at Avignon, in 1745.

The surname, BUTLER, originated in the Chief-Butlerage of Ireland, conferred by HENRY II. upon the first of the family who settled in that kingdom.

HERVEY WALTER or HERVEUS WALTERI, was heir to Hubert Walteri, who is mentioned in the sheriff's accounts for the cos. of Norfolk and Suffolk, 3 HENRY II., A.D. 1156. He m. Matilda, dau. and (with her sister, Bertha, wife of Ranulph de Glanville) co-heir of Theobald de Valoines, Lord of Parham, co. Suffolk, and had four sons,

I. THEOBALD, ancestor of the House of Ormonde, of whom presently.
II. HUBERT Archbishop of Canterbury, 1193, Chief Justice and Governor of the Kingdom during the absence of RICHARD I.; Chancellor of England, 1199; Pope's Legate in the reign of King JOHN. Died at his manor of Teynham, 1205.
III. Roger, witness to the Charter to Buthley.
IV. Hamo, also witness to the same charter.

Hervey Walter granted a charter of lands in Wingfield, co. Suffolk, to the Church of St. Mary, Buthley, which charter was confirmed by his son,

THEOBALD FITZWALTER, who accompanied HENRY II. into Ireland, and was created CHIEF BUTLER of Ireland, 1177. Theobald Walter having returned to England, afterwards accompanied Prince JOHN into Ireland, anno 1185. He was possessed of the baronies of Upper Ormond, Lower Ormond, and numerous other territories. He m. Maud, dau. of Robert le Vavasour, and granddau. of William le Vavasour, justiciary of England, by whom (who m. 2ndly, Fulke FitzWarine) he had issue,

He was afterwards, however, one of the first to join the standard of the Prince of Orange, and when that prince ascended the throne his grace obtained the Garter, and was constituted HIGH-CONSTABLE OF ENGLAND for the coronation. He attended WILLIAM into Ireland, was at the Boyne, and subsequently entertained his majesty most sumptuously at his castle in Kilkenny. In 1693 he was at the battle of Landen, where he received several wounds, and had a horse shot under him. In 1702, his grace was constituted, by Queen ANNE, COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF of the land forces sent against France and Spain, when he destroyed the French fleet, sunk the Spanish galleons in the harbour of Vigo, and took the fort of Redondella; for which important services he received the thanks of both houses of parliament. In 1711 he was declared CAPTAIN-GENERAL and COMMANDER-IN-CHIEF of the land forces in Great Britain, or which were or should be employed abroad in conjunction with the troops of the allies, which post he held till the treaty of Utrecht, in 1713, in which year he was made warden of the Cinque Ports, and constable of Dover Castle. But in two years afterwards (GEORGE I. having in the interim succeeded to the throne), his grace was impeached (21 June, 1715) of high treason, and having retired into France, was attainted in Great Britain, when his estates became forfeited, his (English) honours extinguished, and parliament passed an act which annulled the regalities and liberties of the county palatine of Tipperary, vested his lands in the crown, and proclai a reward of £10,000 for his apprehension should he atte to land in Ireland. But the same parliament passed an act (24 June, 1721) to enable the duke's brother, the of Arran, to purchase the estate, which his lordship accordingly.
